

CHARGES BRIDE DECEIVED HIM

Keith M. Gaylor, suing for Annulment, Claims Girl Misrepresented Her Age.

The unusual situation of a husband suing his girl-wife to have his marriage annulled on account of alleged false representations by the wife as to her age before marriage, was presented to the circuit court judges in equity term at Rockville, Md., with the filing of papers for Keith M. Gaylor, member of a prominent family of Middletown, Md., against Harriett Ann Tupper, fifteen years old, of 633 Twelfth street northeast, Washington.

RETURNS TO MOTHER.

The action was brought for the husband by Attorneys Raymond Neudecker, of Washington, and Robert Peter, Jr., of Rockville, who declare that Gaylor was deceived as to the age of his girl-wife, thinking that she was at least nineteen years old when he led her to the altar. Now the husband, repenting of his hasty marriage, has asked the Montgomery county court to annul the ceremony and hold it to be of no avail and void. The wife has returned to her mother, Mrs. Lillian M. Tupper, it was stated, the marriage never having, in fact, been consummated by either the boy or the girl's mother, who is a Government employee.

William H. Gaylor, of Middletown, Md., father of the eighteen-year-old husband, took matters into his own hands last week when he first learned of the marriage. Keith had gone to Washington, fallen in love with his girl-wife and married her without the knowledge and consent of his parents. It was stated that the boy, now the youth has returned to the custody of his father and is willing to have the court untie his domestic tangles for him.

GIRL ONLY 15 YEARS OLD.

When the parties to the marriage appeared before the clerk of the District Supreme Court to procure a license on December 2 last, Gaylor gave his age as twenty-one and Miss Tupper said she had passed the twenty-one mark, according to allegations in the bill. Harriett was but fifteen, it was alleged, but persuaded the boy, Howard F. Downs, of 308 A street northeast, at whose residence the ceremony was performed, that she was of legal age. Gaylor's father, who is complainant in the proceedings, with the son designated as the "equitable plaintiff," stated that his son "desires and requests this complainant to file this petition on his behalf because of the extreme youth of Harriett Ann Tupper, and further because the said Harriett Ann Tupper falsely stated to him that she was of the age of eighteen years when she first became acquainted with her, and he, the equitable plaintiff, was induced to marry the said defendant upon this false representation and fraudulent statement."

QUOTES CODE OF LAWS.

The complaint quotes at length from the code of laws for the District of Columbia which prohibits the marriage of would-be husbands under twenty-one and blushing brides under eighteen, without the written consent of their parents or guardians. The court was told by Attorneys Neudecker and Peter that sufficient proof will be made at the hearing to substantiate all the charges in the bill. There have been several petitions in the local court for the annulment of marriages on the ground that the husband misstated some material fact to the wife, and her parents stepped in to stop the marriage, but this is one of the few actions instituted in the Rockville court on the complaint of a husband who wants to be free again because his wife is too young. The alleged false statement by Miss Tupper as to her age is set up in the allegation as a material fact upon which the youthful husband depends to dissolve the marital bonds.

INDIANA RAIL RATES UNFAIR, I. C. C. DECLARES

The Interstate Commerce Commission today declared freight and passenger rates, fares and charges, fixed by the Indiana Public Utility Commission for intra-State traffic to be unduly prejudicial to traffic in interstate commerce and ordered the rates raised to the level of inter-State rates.

The order becomes effective March 24. Inter-State rates on coal, for distances of thirty miles and less, were exempted from the order.

Bureau of Missing Persons Established by Times

Because of the publicity given by The Washington Times to the disappearance of Margaret Bragieur and Elizabeth Shorey, and the promptness with which representatives of this paper located the two runaway girls and turned them safely back to their distressed parents, numerous requests have been received from mothers and other relatives of missing persons to have search instituted for their loved ones.

Owing to the number and frequency of these requests, The Washington Times has decided to establish a Bureau of Missing Persons, to co-operate with the police and relatives of men, women and children who have disappeared.

MUST REPORT TO POLICE.

The Bureau of Missing Persons will not concern itself with any case which is not reported to the police. The authorities must be notified as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the relatives or friends.

In addition to maintaining a representative at Police Headquarters and the Detective Bureau to co-operate with the authorities, the Bureau of Missing Persons will keep an accurate file index of photographs, personal descriptions, fingerprints, whenever possible to procure them; brief biographical sketches concerning the habits, traits, and character of the missing persons, together with the probable or suspected whereabouts of persons and the inferential cause of the disappearance.

'Mother' Blaine Dies; Beloved For Kindness

The District Jail and the Washington Asylum are in mourning.

"Mother" Blaine, who every Sunday up to last Sunday for the past thirty years has been at the keyboard of the organ in the chapel, is dead.

Unfailing in devotion to duty, Mother Blaine was the most beloved figure in the history of the jail and the asylum.

"One of the brightest spots in the week for the first time at the organ, from the highest officials down to the lowest inmate, was the sight of Mother Blaine at the organ Sunday morning," said one of the officials this morning.

"Everybody looked for her! everybody loved her."

30 YEARS AS ORGANIST.

"Mother" Blaine, who was Mrs. Rebecca A. Blaine, was the widow of Robert G. Blaine. She was a life-long resident of Washington, and was seventy-four years ago in the northeast section of the city. For many years she lived on the old family estate which covered a part of the present site of the Library of Congress. The last forty years of her life were spent in the house where she died last night, at 133 C street southeast.

Thirty years ago Mrs. Blaine took her post for the first time at the organ in the jail chapel. Since then she had been unfailing in her attendance at the Sunday morning services.

Last Sunday, for the first time in years, she was missing. Anxious inquiries revealed that she was dangerously ill at her home.

News of her death was announced this morning at the jail and asylum.

SURVIVED BY FAMILY.

Mrs. Blaine is survived by a son, Dr. Robert E. Blaine, a well known Washington physician, with offices at 524 Tenth street northwest; and by five married daughters, all living in Washington. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Josephine D. Hicks, who has been living with her at 133 C street for years.

Requiem mass for Mrs. Blaine will be celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church Friday morning. The services will be attended by a delegation of jail and asylum officials and employees, while a number of floral tributes will be sent by inmates and prisoners.

Oppose Army Governors.

Opposition to the appointment of military men as governors of the possessions of the United States is developing here, and strong pressure is being brought to bear upon President-elect Harding to name civilians for these positions.

'SUFF' PARTY OPENS MEET

Battle Is Not Over, Alice Paul Declares in Calling Convention to Order.

"Our battle is not over; our complete victory is not won," declared Miss Alice Paul, suffrage leader today, opening the convention of the National Woman's Party, which is to decide the future course of this organization in politics.

MUST KEEP UP WORK.

"We must be encouraged to continue until women are indeed free," Miss Paul declared. "It is for this convention to decide whether the spirit of this organization is to be disbanded and its machinery cast aside, or whether spirit and machinery both are to be turned toward new ends."

All that The Washington Times Bureau of Missing Persons asks is that a guarantee of sincerity be given by reporting the case to the police, and that it be given earnest co-operation consisting of full, adequate and complete information and data upon which to predicate a thorough investigation.

If any of your relatives or friends have disappeared and you are desirous of locating them, why not let The Washington Times place the facilities of its Bureau of Missing Persons at your service?

FOREIGN SESSION TONIGHT.

The session tonight will be the foreign session. A brilliant audience from the embassies and legations in Washington will be present and the woman movement in Armenia, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Sweden, Iceland, Serbia and the Philippines will be discussed by Princess Anne Azghepian of Armenia, Miss Anna Stepanak of Czechoslovakia, Madame Thil Jensen of Denmark, Mrs. Velma Swanson Howard of Sweden, Madame Grouitch of Serbia, Madame Chydenius of Finland, Nello Wai Ling Sze of China, Mrs. Bainbridge Colby, wife of the Secretary of State, will welcome the foreign delegates and Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, of New York, will preside at tonight's session.

More than 2,000 people were turned away from the memorial ceremonies in the rotunda of the capital last night. The crowded rotunda rang with enthusiastic applause and acclamations at the end of the impressive ceremonies.

R. R. Valuation Bill Passes.

The Senate yesterday passed the bill providing for an appropriation of $1,000,000 to complete the work of ascertaining the physical valuation of the railroads, being conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Women Can Stay Age By Six Minutes' Daily Exercise, Says Camp

Walter Camp, for years actively identified with Yale athletics, last night turned beauty doctor, and before a large gathering that included the wives of Congressmen and filled the caucus room of the House, he demonstrated how women can obtain enduring beauty.

"There is no reason why a woman should look like a ruin when she's past thirty," said Mr. Camp, "nor is there any reason why she should lose the bloom of youth, when a little exercise, but six minutes a day, will keep her looking young."

GIVES DEMONSTRATION.

Mounting the table in the caucus room, he then gave the women present special exercises that would assure them a good carriage, a beautiful back, shoulders not muscular but nicely rounded, a neck devoid of hollow places, and a good complexion resulting from good health.

Mr. Camp has been in Washington seeking to have Congress enact a law that would make physical education compulsory in the schools. At the request of his Congressional friends, he gave a talk to a few of the invited members, but the work of the caucus room was not interrupted.

When a woman says she cannot serve on a jury because her sympathy would prevent her sentencing a criminal, she ignores her very grave duty to the community, upon which such an individual preys," Miss Boardman declared. "If we women are to be of true service to the State we must be of service as women, adding our woman's knowledge and experience to the body politic."
